

The Fonzo
Lab

The University of Texas at Austin
Psychiatry
Dell Medical School

Are you interested in helping researchers identify whom should receive antidepressant medication? Do you suffer from Major Depressive Disorder or have chronic depressive symptoms?

The Fonzo Lab is a team of researchers and clinicians affiliated with the Dell Medical School at the University of Texas at Austin. We are looking for individuals who:

- Are diagnosed with Major Depressive Disorder, have experienced major depression, and/or are currently having symptoms of a depression
- Are 18-65 years old and fluent in English
- Are willing to undergo MRI and EEG procedures to measure brain function
- Are willing to take an FDA-approved, once-daily medication for treating depression
- Can visit the laboratory several times over the course of an 8-10 week period.

Participants will undergo clinical assessments, MRI/EEG procedures, and receive an 8-week course of antidepressant medication monitored by a board-certified psychiatrist at no cost. Financial compensation is provided, up to $550. All participants also receive free pictures of their brain!

If you're interested in our study, please contact us! (512)-495-5856

fonzolab@austin.utexas.edu tiny.cc/UT2020

<http://sites.utexas.edu/fonzolab>

